Johor Bahru: Fasih berbahasa Melayu, petah dan tidak kekok berkongsi cerita mengenai sesuatu topik, membuatkan hampir setiap video yang dimuat naik oleh saudara baharu ini di TikTok meraih ratusan ribu tontonan pengguna media sosial itu.

Lebih teruja, Loh Boon Keat, 23, adalah orang kurang upaya (OKU) penglihatan sejak lahir, tangkas mengendalikan segala berkaitan teknologi menggunakan pembaca layar Non Visual Desktop Access (NVDA) di Windows, Google TalkBack di Android serta VoiceOver di iOS hingga mendapat perhatian umum.

Berperwatakan ringkas dan mudah mesra, dia mula berminat dengan teknologi pada 2013.

Katanya, selepas menamatkan sekolah rendah di Sekolah Kebangsaan Pendidikan Khas (SKPK) Princess Elizabeth di Johor Bahru, dia melanjutkan pelajaran di Maktab Sultan Abu Bakar atau lebih dikenali sebagai English College (2013 hingga 2017).

"Keluarga memberikan saya komputer riba. Selepas tahu kedudukan papan kekunci dan mengenali serba sedikit mengenai interface Windows Operating System, saya berani buat apa sahaja untuk mempelajari sesuatu yang baharu.

"Saya akan explore apa saja. Pernah sehingga komputer riba saya tiada bunyi. Saya ingat sudah rosak, tetapi kawan saya bertukar semula dan boleh digunakan. Dari situ bermulanya pembelajaran saya tentang Windows Operating System secara mendalam.

"Saya mula belajar cara memasang aplikasi termasuk pembaca layar dan banyak lagi. Saya berterima kasih kepada kawan dan cikgu yang mengajar saya semuanya.

"Bagi telefon pintar, lebih sebulan saya belajar sendiri untuk memahirkan penggunaan Android Operating System," katanya ketika ditemui di Taman Desa Jaya, di sini, baru-baru ini.

Mudah pelajari teknologi

Mengulas lanjut bagi penggunaan teknologi dan fungsi Braille Screen Input bagi golongan OKU penglihatan, katanya, tidak sukar bagi mereka belajar menggunakannya kerana kebanyakan sudah mahir dengan mesin Braille.

"Saya juga mengajar rakan senasib untuk menaip menggunakan fungsi Braille Screen Input yang tersedia pada pembaca layar Android serta iOS."

"Ada yang saya ajar secara berdepan. Saya minta mereka pe-gang jari saya bagi mengetahui kedudukan sebenar jari untuk menaip guna Braille Screen Input.

"Kalau nak buat video dan hantar pun tak boleh, mereka juga OKU penglihatan, macam mana hendak lihat video? Jadi sama ada mengajar secara langsung ataupun saya akan buat audio tutorial dan mereka ikut langkah yang saya tunjukkan satu persatu," jelasnya yang memeluk Islam sejak 17 Oktober 2016.

Mengenai dirinya, anak tunggal kelahiran Batu Pahat dan dibesarkan di Johor Bahru, tidak pernah kesal diri kecacatan sejak lahir.

Ketika ditemui, Boon Keat baharu pulang menunaikan umrah, pada hujung bulan lalu.

Hatinya tenang sepanjang berada di bumi Makkah, biarpun diuji demam ketika berada di bumi suci itu.

"Pengalaman menunaikan umrah, tidak mungkin dilupakan apabila dapat pegang Kaabah. Saya rasa sangat bertuah.

"Saya tidak boleh gambarkan dengan kata-kata. Alhamdulillah saya dikurniakan mutawif yang sangat membantu sepanjang saya berada di sana.

"Syukur juga saya dapat solat di Hijir Ismail. Mak tahu saya mahu pergi menunaikan ibadah umrah, dia tidak menghalang dan menyediakan kelengkapan seperti pasport," katanya yang menetap di Bangi, Selangor bersama keluarga angkat.

Menurut Boon Keat, dia sentiasa berfikir Islam sangat memudahkan urusan umatnya.

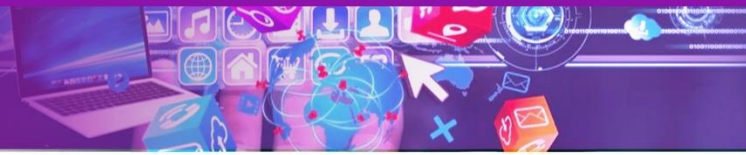

"Saya suka mendengar ceramah yang besertakan dalil daripada al-Quran dan hadis, tetapi kena berhati-hati sebab ada juga yang memberi hadis palsu.

"Ramai yang tanya saya, kenapa tidak tukar nama Islam. Pada saya Islam tidak menyaratkan perlu tukar nama," katanya ringkas.

"Keluarga memberikan saya komputer riba. Selepas tahu kedudukan papan kekunci dan mengenali serba sedikit mengenai interface Windows Operating System, saya berani buat apa sahaja untuk mempelajari sesuatu yang baharu"

Kad PPS elak ketirisan bantuan banjir

Kota Bharu: Jabatan Kebajikan Masyarakat (JKM) Kelantan memperkenalkan Kad PPS (Pusat Pemindahan Sementara) kepada mangsa banjir yang ditempatkan di pusat itu bagi mengelak keciciran agihan bantuan.

Pengarahnya, Said Sidup berkata, kad berkenaan diberikan kepada setiap ketua keluarga sejourus mendaftar di PPS.

"Tujuan kad ini diberikan adalah untuk memastikan setiap mangsa dan keluarga mereka yang berdaftar mendapat peralatan dan keperluan yang sama.

"Kad ini perlu disimpan sepanjang mereka berada di PPS dan kami tidak mahu timbul pelbagai isu atau aduan daripada mangsa yang mempersoalkan kenapa mereka tidak menerima bantuan seperti mangsa lain," katanya di Depoh Simpanan Keperluan Bencana JKM Pengkalan Chepa di sini, semalam.

Said berkata, JKM diberi

peruntukan RM2.34 juta untuk menyediakan barang keperluan mangsa banjir yang ditempatkan di PPS.

Katanya, pihaknya sudah mengedarkan barang keperluan mangsa di 160 pangkalan hadapan serta 16 stor bencana negeri dan daerah, yang mana agihan itu hanya mampu menampung keperluan 30,000 mangsa pada satu-satu masa.

"Sekiranya tidak mencukupi, kami akan memohon kerajaan negeri dan Persekutuan untuk melaksanakan pembelian darurat.

"Berdasarkan pengalaman banjir, tahun lalu...peruntukan diberikan sebanyak RM1 juta, tetapi kami membelanjakan kira-kira RM5 juta untuk tambahan perbelanjaan makanan," katanya.

Dalam pada itu, beliau memaklumkan terdapat 456 PPS seluruh negeri yang disediakan buat menampung 191,169 mangsa banjir.

PETALING JAYA: An Indonesian babysitter who formerly worked at a nursery pleaded not guilty in the Sessions Court here yesterday to a charge of neglecting a two-month-old baby girl that resulted in her death last month.

Mulyati Kalim, 51, is accused of neglecting Qaseh Aulia Faizul by leaving her unattended, ultimately leading to her death at Taska Juara, Jalan Cecawi, Kota Damansara here at 9.40am on Oct 10.

She was charged under Section 31(1)(a) of the Child Act 2001 which provides for a fine of up to RM50,000 or imprisonment of up to 20 years, or both, upon conviction. Deputy public prosecutor P. Vithiya Monisha did not offer bail as it is a serious case involving the death of an infant.

KPWKM to open elderly care centres in govt facilities next year — Nancy KUALA LUMPUR: The Ministry of Women, Family and Community Development (KPWKM) plans to establish elderly care centres in government facilities next year with caregiving services at a minimal rate.

It's Minister, Datuk Seri Nancy Shukri said the effort would ease the burden of government servants especially women whom are juggling with work and taking care of elderly family members.

"This is a government initiative to bring back women who have quit their jobs due to caregiving responsibilities back into the workforce" she told a press conference after the launching of the 'MindCare: Proactive Mental Health Support for Caregiving Communities' campaign here yesterday.

Nancy said this would play an important role to increase women labour participation to 59 per cent by 2025 as targetted by the ministry.

"To achieve the percentage, the government has to do its part to make sure that women can go back to work, daycare centres must be available or even elderly care centres because they may also have parents who need to be looked after.

"The country needs women to come back to work," she said.

She added that the participation of the private sector in providing care giving facilities at a reasonable cost also provides relief for those who are in need of caregiving assistance.

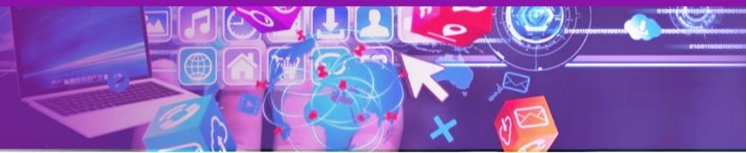

So far, KPWKM hopes to launch a respite care centre comprising of an elderly care centre as well as daycare centre in a newly built government facility in Nibong Tebal, Penang, next year.

However, the execution and expansion of the plan will be looked at in detail upon receiving an allocation in the 2024 budget.

Meanwhile, the MindCare campaign is an effort by Kiddocare and FWD Takaful to promote and empower mental well being among caregivers in the country.

Addressing mental health issues faced by the community, Nancy said in her keynote speech that the care industry needs an evaluation exercise to provide a more supportive and inclusive environment for caregivers as well as care recipients in the nation. — Bernama

Cops probing govt officer for alleged sexual harassment

KUALA LUMPUR: Bukit Aman will call up a senior officer at a government agency in connection with a sexual harassment allegation against him.

Inspector-General of Police Tan Sri Razarudin Husain said the individual will have his statement recorded at Putrajaya police headquarters at about 2.30pm today.

"His statement will be recorded by Bukit Aman CID Special Investigation Unit. The investigation is still ongoing," he said.

So far, only the statement of the complainant has been recorded, the IGP added.

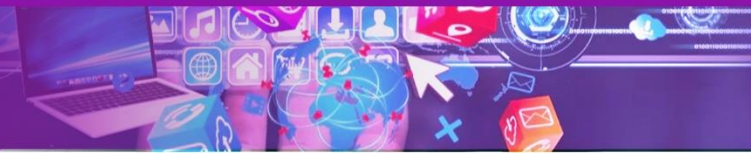

It is learnt that a financial consultant, in her 30s, lodged a police report last week alleging that the suspect, a head of a government agency, has been harassing her via WhatsApp.

The woman had initially approached the suspect over a prospective investment opportunity in November last year before the harassment allegedly occurred.

She also alleged that the suspect had asked her to go to hotels and karaoke centres a few times but she rejected him.

She claimed that his advances became stronger from August when he sent her several indecent photos via text messaging.

PAS leader's polygamy solution for late marriage among women

ALLOWING polygamy for Muslim men can be a possible solution to address the issue of late marriage among Muslim women, says PAS politician Datuk Seri Tuan Ibrahim Tuan Man.

The Kubang Kerian MP said the issue is sensitive among many people.

"When we discuss polygamy, it is as if we are committing a crime.

"We must be rational. If a man is capable, qualified and fair, a huge moral support must be given to them (to practise polygamy)," he said during the debate on the Women, Family and Community Development Ministry at the committee stage in the Dewan Rakyat yesterday.

Tuan Ibrahim provided his own statistics that there are more than 8.4 million single women in the country.

"I know this is not the final solution, but this matter can be a way out to address the issue of late marriage, and I am sure some of those on the other side (government bench) will also consider this," pointing at the government bloc, drawing laughter from the floor.

Datuk Mohd Isam Mohd Isa (BN-Tampin) then asked Tuan Ibrahim, "Do you have one or two (wives)?" which drew laughter again from the MPs.

Tuan Ibrahim replied that he only supports the suggestion.

"In terms of capability and needs, if you are capable, please go ahead. Although I only have one (wife), I have three more empty spots.

"I will wait, maybe we can move together," he told Mohd Isam.

Yeo Bee Yin (PH-Puchong) criticised Tuan Ibrahim for making a "sexist" remark on polygamy.

"It is impolite to encourage polygamy and it hurts the sentiments of women and wives within the Dewan Rakyat and outside,"

Reminder: Baby on board

It is one death too many when infants die from 'forgotten baby syndrome', where a child is inadvertently left in a parked vehicle. Simple acts such as keeping a stuffed toy on the front seat or setting phone reminders can prevent this tragedy. > See reports on pages 3 and 4 by MARTIN CARVALHO, FATIMAH ZAINAL and FAZLEENA AZIZ

Deputy Minister: 'Forgotten child syndrome' requires collaborative approach

PETALING JAYA: Ways must be looked at to prevent "forgotten baby syndrome", the phenomenon where parents or guardians forget they have a child in a parked vehicle, says the Women, Family and Community Development Ministry. Its deputy minister Dank Amin Athirah Sabu said curbing such incidents is a collective responsibility. As such, collaborative efforts with other ministries, government agencies, non-governmental organisations (NGOs) and communities are necessary, besides a special programme for parents to raise their awareness on safety. "We will be discussing with the Transport Ministry on how an alert system may need to be developed or installed on vehicles as a joint effort to deal with the issue moving forward."

"I believe that this issue is our shared responsibility and not only rests on the shoulders of the Women, Family and Community Development Ministry, but also that we all understand and view this as a reminder to give us more practical suggestions for the safety of our children. "I welcome the cooperation of Minors and everyone," she told The Star. Amin Athirah said updating the SCP for tanks (childcare centres) was also part of the collective action in ensuring that the safety of the children remains a priority for all parties. On Monday, Women, Family and Community Development Minister Dank Seri Nancy Shukri said that the proposed ban on tinted car windows was to prevent cases of children being left in the car had been raised with Transport Minister Anthony Loke as it is under the jurisdiction of his ministry. She was reported as saying that tinted windows were one of the causes of such incidents and so it was up to the Transport Minister to decide whether action is necessary. Loke on Tuesday had said there were no plans to ban tinted windows for cars, adding that it was necessary for certain people for health or security reasons. Certain car models now come with backseat baby alarms to serve as a reminder to check the rear seats of the car before the driver walks away, while navigation apps such as Waze come with child reminders to alert parents to check for the child in the backseat upon arrival at a destination. On Nov 13, Nancy said that her ministry would make it compulsory for nursery operators to contact parents if their child is absent to prevent accidental deaths of children left in cars. She said the SCP regarding the matter needed to be updated following recent deaths due to parents forgetting to drop their children off at daycare facilities. Meanwhile, her deputy Amin Athirah said it can happen to anyone, especially parents who are in a state of lethargy or facing various work challenges and pressure. "No parent would intentionally leave their children in an unsafe place, let alone in a car to be trapped alone. "I believe there must be a special programme to give training and awareness on this issue to the parents themselves, without having to wait for it to become a more widespread problem. "Baby or child safety needs to be one of the important topics in the parenting skills syllabus, regardless of whether it is driven by agencies under the ministry, such as the National Population and Family Development Board, or NGOs that can play a role as our strategic partners," she added. Amin Athirah also said NGOs and community organisations can start helping by holding awareness and advocacy programmes throughout the country, adding they can provide awareness and reminders in a targeted community contact. She said safety reminders must also be introduced and repeated, including important tips such as placing children's items on the front seat, placing parents' important personal or work items near the child's car seat, and ensuring that the car seat is visible in the rearview mirror. She added that sticky notes or pictures of the children can also be pasted on the dashboard as a reminder to parents, besides setting an alarm on a mobile phone or watch and child reminders on the Waze app.

A toy in front seat may save child's life

PETALING JAYA: The simple act of having a teddy bear in the front seat of your car may save your child's life, say child experts. National Early Childhood Intervention Council adviser Dank Dr Amar Singh said this was among the few steps which might prevent deaths of young children left in cars due to the "forgotten baby syndrome". "The recent deaths of young children left in cars and then dying due to thermal injury is of concern. "Twenty to 30 minutes in full sun in a closed vehicle is all that is needed to kill a young child," he said when contacted yesterday. He added that parents should also inculcate consistent habits to remind them of their child's presence at the back seat of the car. "Keep an object in the front seat to remind you of your child, like a stuffed animal. "Swap the child and the object when you place the child in the back seat and vice versa when you take your child out of the vehicle," he said. "Keep an important item in the back seat with your child, an item that you cannot do without at a meeting, work or shopping." Alternatively, he said that parents could keep their wallet, purse, handphone or shoes on the floorboards of the back seat as a reminder before leaving the car. As backseat safety net, he said that baby-sitters or kindergarten teachers could call a parent if their child does not turn up at the centre at the correct time. Dr Amar also suggested that car manufacturers install sensors, alarms or application as reminders. "We need to push for these to become routine in all cars sold in Malaysia. "Even Waze has inbuilt reminders to support parents transporting children," he added. He was commenting the deaths of three young children due to thermal injuries in just over a period of a month. On Oct 5, an eight-month-old baby died after being left in the car for almost eight hours by her mother at the parking lot of the Canselor Tunika Malaya Hospital in Cheras, Kuala Lumpur. On Oct 25, a 16-month-old girl died after her father had forgotten to drop her off at a public university's daycare centre in Kuala Nerus, Terengganu. On Nov 9, a two-year-old girl died after she was accidentally left in a vehicle for more than seven hours after her mother had forgotten to drop the child off at a daycare centre in Anson Damansara, Petaling Jaya. Meanwhile, Human Rights Commission (Suhakam) Children's Commissioner Dr Farah Nini Dasuki said parents should not over rely on advanced child safety features with regard to the wellbeing of their children. "It is prudent to recognise that the over-reliance on advanced child safety features has gradually taken away the innate vigilance and hinders memories resulting in parents' forgetfulness. "Parents are strongly advised to routinely check on the safety and presence of their children and avoid taking for granted the safety of the children," she said. She said that prevention efforts should be ramped up by all relevant stakeholders especially the Transport Ministry to create a nationwide campaign warning parents and public. Dr Farah Nini added that as a deterrent, prosecutors could also rely on Section 31 of the Child Act 2001 to address parental negligence.

Forgotten baby syndrome (FBS)

- Defined as the phenomenon of forgetting a child in a parked vehicle.
- A child's body heats up three to five times faster than an adult's does.
- When left in a hot car, a child's major organs begin to shut down when his temperature reaches 40°C.
- A child can die when his temperature reaches 42°C.

Prevention tips

- Always check the back seat and make sure all children are out of the car before locking it and walking away.
- Avoid distractions while driving, especially cell-phone use.
- Be extra alert when there is a change in your routine, like when someone else is driving your car or you take a different route to work or school.
- Have your child care provider call if your child is more than 10 minutes late.
- Keep your car locked when it is parked to prevent a curious child from entering when no one is around. Many hot car deaths have occurred when a child mistakenly locked himself inside.
- Put your cell phone, bag, or purse in the back seat, so you check the back seat when you arrive at your destination.
- Teach children that cars are not safe places to play.
- Make sure children do not have easy access to your car keys. Store them out of a child's reach.
- If someone else is driving your child, always check to make sure he has arrived safely.
- Remind children that cars, especially car trunks, should not be used for games like hide-and-seek.
- Keep rear fold-down seats closed to prevent a child from crawling into the trunk from inside the car.

Move for elderly care centre at govt facilities

KUALA LUMPUR: The Women, Family and Community Development Ministry plans to establish elderly care centres in government facilities next year with caregiving services at a minimal rate.

It's minister Datuk Seri Nancy Shukri said the effort would ease the burden of government servants, especially women whom are juggling work and taking care of elderly family members.

"This is a government initiative to bring back women, who had quit their jobs due to caregiving responsibilities, back into the workforce," she said after the launch of the "MindCare: Proactive Mental Health Support for Caregiving Communities" campaign here yesterday.

Nancy said this would play an important role to increase women labour participation to 59% by 2025 as targeted by the ministry.

She added that the participation of the private sector in providing caregiving facilities at a reasonable cost also provides relief for those who are in need of caregiving assistance.

The ministry hopes to launch a respite care centre comprising an elderly care centre as well as daycare centre in a newly-built government facility in Nibong Tebal, Penang, next year.

However, the execution and expansion of the plan will be looked at in detail after receiving an allocation under the 2024 Budget.

Meanwhile, the MindCare campaign is an effort by Kiddocare and FWD Takaful to promote and empower mental well-being among caregivers in the country.

Nancy said in her keynote speech that the care industry needs an evaluation exercise to provide a more supportive and inclusive environment for caregivers as well as care recipients in the nation. – Bernama
