KOTA SAMARAHAN: The Sarawak Social Welfare Department (JKM) has allocated over RM1.6 million in financial aid to 16,624 recipients across 12 divisions of the state as part of the Sejangkak Kasih Aidilfitri initiative, the Sarawak Public Communications Unit reported.

This aid is aimed at alleviating the financial burdens faced by the less fortunate during the Hari Raya Aidilfitri celebrations.

Sarawak Deputy Minister for Women, Early Childhood and Community Wellbeing Development Datuk Mohamad Razi Sitam highlighted the programme's goal to bring joy and relief to the recipients during the festive period.

The breakdown of beneficiaries includes 4,524 from Kuching, 2,417 from Samarahan, and other divisions receiving varied amounts, totalling RM1,662,400 in aid.

The announcement came during the Sejangkak Kasih Hari Raya Aidilfitri 2024 event at Al-Muttaqin Mosque, where 150 recipients received symbolic cash handouts of RM100 and hampers worth RM80 each. The remaining financial aid will be directly transferred to the bank accounts of those not present at the ceremony.

Ramai penjaga tak berdaftar JKM

PUTRAJAYA – Jabatan Kebajikan Masyarakat (JKM) mendedahkan terdapat lebih 3,000 kes individu yang tidak berdaftar sebagai penjaga sah kepada kanak-kanak yang dipelihara mereka dalam tempoh setahun.

Pengarah Jabatan Pembangunan Kanak-kanak JKM, Dr. Sopian Brahim berkata, kes itu diterima melalui aduan dan penelitian yang dijalankan pihaknya, namun beliau yakin jumlah tersebut adalah lebih tinggi kerana banyak kes yang 'disorok'.

Menurutnya, meskipun penjaga itu merupakan saudara-mara yang secara rela mahu menjaga anak saudara atau cucu, namun mereka tetap wajib mendaftar dengan jabatannya dalam tempoh dua minggu pengambilan.

Jelas beliau, anak pelihara selalunya melibatkan golongan kanak-kanak yatim piatu, tidak sah taraf, dibuang keluarga atau yang diserahkan oleh ibu bapa kandung sendiri atas faktor kesusahan hidup.

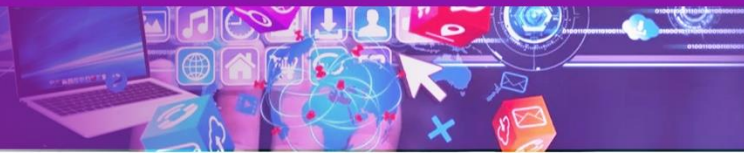

"Tak kiralah datuk sendiri yang nak jaga cucu atau saudara yang rela nak jaga anak-anak ini, mereka perlu tampil di mana-mana cawangan JKM untuk buat pengesahan bahawa mereka akan menjaga anak-anak itu.

"Ia perlu dibuat dalam tempoh dua minggu dan jika gagal mereka boleh dikenakan denda sehingga RM10,000 atau dipenjarakan selama tempoh tidak lebih lima tahun atau kedua-duanya mengikut Akta Kanak-Kanak 2001," katanya kepada Kosmo!.

Beliau berkata, JKM amat tegas berhubung perkara tersebut kerana tidak mahu timbul masalah lain terutama melibatkan isu-isu penderaan, pengabaian serta sindiket pemerdagangan manusia sekiranya penjagaan itu tidak didaftarkan.

"Apabila tak daftar banyak yang kita risau, kadangkala boleh jadi juga mungkin di luar pengetahuan pihak-pihak berwajib ini ada isu sindiket, penipuan dan pemalsuan dokumen, itu yang biasa kita terima dan sebab itu JKM perlu semak dari peringkat awal.

"Setelah berdaftar, maknanya jika ada sebarang hal atau bantuan kepada anak-anak itu, kita boleh rujuk dengan penjaga sah mereka," ujarnya.

PETALING JAYA: Use official channels to make donations or contributions to those in need, says the Social Welfare Department.

It said this could include contributions towards welfare homes, registered welfare groups, houses of worship, and the National Welfare Foundation, adding that the department was also carrying out awareness and prevention campaigns to educate the public on not giving alms or contributions to beggars.

"We hope these efforts will curb begging and prevent such activities from spreading," it told The Star in a recent statement.

It said stern warnings would be given to any welfare aid recipients who were found begging.

"Action can also be taken against these individuals under the Destitute Persons Act 1977 (Act 183). They can also be charged by the police under the Minor Offences Act 1955 and the House to House and Street Collections Act 1947," it added.

When asked how many individuals had their welfare aid terminated throughout 2022 and 2023 after being found begging, the department said they did not keep records on the matter.

The department was responding to questions by The Star about a recent incident where a man in Maran, Pahang, was reported to have been able to collect RM500 within five hours of begging at a night market.

The man's earnings from begging and his salary as a bus company shift supervisor enabled him to purchase a Proton X70 Premium.

He also received welfare assistance for his hand disability, but following this revelation, the Women, Family and Community Development Ministry revoked further disability allowance for the individual.

Recent checks by The Star also found several beggars in Pasar Seni, Kuala Lumpur.

According to several vendors, beggars tend to avoid crowded areas like Petaling Street and instead opt for quieter spots like roadsides or bus stations.

In February, StarMetro reported that beggars and homeless people were becoming an increasingly common sight in Kuala Lumpur.

Activists also voiced out that the public should give beggars in kind and not cash to prevent the money from being misused.

Reporting sex crimes against children

By FAZLEENA AZIZ
fazleena@thestar.com.my

PETALING JAYA: Many doctors and healthcare providers don't come forward to lodge police reports when they suspect child sexual abuse, but it is not fear holding them back, says a senior paediatrician.

Consultant paediatrician and adolescent medicine specialist Dr Thiyagar Nadarajaw said generally, it is not easy to detect child abuse when the information is not volunteered by the parents or the children themselves, especially if the children appear physically healthy.

"A high index of suspicion is essential among healthcare providers when it comes to sexual abuse of children. As the saying goes, the eyes do not see what the mind does not think.

"A child who is brought to see a doctor for a common sickness may manifest subtle non-physical symptoms and signs.

"If we observe and listen attentively to their symptoms and signs, we may pick up (indicators) that they are victims of child abuse. Their parents may complain that their teenager is rather withdrawn, short-tempered or even losing appetite and weight," he added.

Dr Thiyagar was responding to a recent comment by Health Ministry public health expert Dr

Noor Raihan Khalal that health officials and staff were afraid to lodge police reports regarding sexual crime cases involving children or teenagers.

Dr Noor Raihan noted the need to comply with Section 19 of the Sexual Offences Against Children Act 2017 (Act 792) during the Convention on the Protection of School Children Against Sexual Crimes.

Section 19 states that "any person who fails to give information of the commission of or the intention of any other person to commit any offence under this Act, or any offence specified in the Schedule where the victim is a child, to the officer in charge of the nearest police station, commits an offence and shall, on conviction, be liable to a fine not exceeding RM5,000".

Dr Thiyagar said sexually-abused teenagers may manifest symptoms of anxiety, depression, post-traumatic stress, have difficulty sleeping, be unable to relax or commit self-harm.

If healthcare providers suspect a child or teenager of being sexually abused, it is important for them to document the details and report to the relevant authorities, particularly the police, he added.

"Even if police investigations subsequently reveal that there was no element of sexual abuse, healthcare providers are protected by law from any false accusation claims by parents," he said.

Children's Commissioner Dr Farah Nini Dusuki echoed his views, saying it was not fear that was stopping healthcare providers from lodging reports.

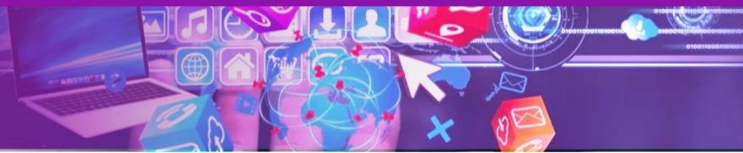

She added that there were some concerns over the legal procedures, such as attending court, becoming a witness and other related matters.

"The hesitancy is more about what comes after reporting. If the case becomes a police case, they have to make sure their reports that will be used as evidence are done properly.

"So, this may not be a pleasant process for doctors, especially having to go to court, as it takes away their precious clinic time - they need to postpone appointments and this has implications for their work.

"Being a witness in court is also usually not a pleasant experience," she added.

Oleh Mahani Ishak - Mac 26, 2024 @ 4:43pm

Presiden yang juga Ketua Pegawai Eksekutif Cagamas, Kameel Abdul Halim.

KUALA LUMPUR: Seramai 400 suri rumah golongan B40 mendapat perlindungan Skim Keselamatan Sosial Suri Rumah (SKSSR) percuma hasil tajaan Perbadanan Cagaran Malaysia, Cagamas Berhad (Cagamas).

Presiden yang juga Ketua Pegawai Eksekutif Cagamas, Kameel Abdul Halim, berkata SKSSR adalah skim di bawah Pertubuhan Keselamatan Sosial (PERKESO) yang memberi manfaat kepada suri rumah berdaftar melalui platform Bank Data Kemiskinan Nasional (eKasih).

"Cagamas membuat penajaan caruman sebanyak RM48,000 yang memberi manfaat SKSSR secara percuma kepada 400 suri rumah daripada golongan B40 yang berdaftar melalui platform eKasih.

"SKSSR dikuatkuasakan mengikut Akta Keselamatan Sosial Suri Rumah 2022, bertujuan menyediakan perlindungan sosial kepada golongan suri rumah terhadap bencana domestik, keilatan dan kematian ketika menguruskan rumah tangga dan keluarganya," katanya dalam kenyataan, hari ini.

Kameel berkata, tajaan SKSSR itu adalah sokongan Cagamas terhadap usaha PERKESO memperkukuhkan kesejahteraan sosial golongan wanita B40 terutama dalam kalangan suri rumah yang berperanan penting menyumbang ke arah pembangunan institusi keluarga dan ekonomi negara secara langsung.

"Tajaan ini sebahagian daripada komitmen kami dalam rangkaian tanggungjawab sosial korporat (CSR) dan kerangka kelestarian, dengan satu daripada tujuannya adalah memperkasa sosioekonomi kumpulan B40 terutama golongan wanita," katanya.

PASIR GUDANG: Polis Johor menahan seorang penjawat awam bagi membantu siasatan mengasari isterinya secara seksual di Taman Scientex, Pasir Gudang di sini.

Ketua Polis Daerah Seri Alam, Superintendent Sohaimi Ishak, berkata pihaknya mengesan beberapa keping gambar tangkap layar perbualan 'WhatsApp' yang dimuat naik pemilik akaun media sosial X, semalam.

Student involved in teacher romance also receiving full protection

By REBECCA RAJAENDRAM
rebeccagr@thestar.com.my

KLANG: The 16-year-old student allegedly involved in a romantic relationship with his teacher has been given psychosocial assistance, says Education Minister Fadhlina Sidek.

She said the student is also receiving full protection.

"The student has been given psychosocial services and full protection as per ministry guidelines," she said after meeting Sijil Tinggi Agama Malaysia (STAM) 2023 candidates at Kolej Islam Sultan Alam Shah here yesterday.

Fadhlina was responding to media reports about the student's alleged romantic relationship with his female mathematics teacher.

The case had sparked a police investigation into allegations of a sexual relationship.

The student had arrived home with red marks on his neck, attributing them to a kiss from his teacher.

Fadhlina said the case is now being investigated by the police and the ministry will take further action once the investigations are completed.

She said if the teacher is found to be at fault, the teacher will not have any dealings or attachments with students.

On Monday, the ministry said action had already been taken against the teacher according to existing guidelines.

She did not, however, specify the nature of the action.

On Sunday, Sepang OCPD Asst Comm Wan Kamarul Azran Wan Yusof said the police were alerted to the case after the student's mother lodged a police report on Dec 12 last year.

"We have opened investigations under Section 14 of the Sexual Offences Against Children Act for physical sexual assault on a child," he said in a statement.

ACP Wan Kamarul added that the police are in the midst of completing the investigation paper before handing it over to the deputy public prosecutor's office for further action.

On another matter, Fadhlina said the ministry is constantly monitoring the hot weather together with the Malaysian Meteorological Department and the Health Ministry.

She said the ministry has halted all outdoor activities and released new guidelines for schools that include information on activities, attire and overall student health and well-being.

She added that schools should adhere to the guidelines.

On Sunday, health director-general Dr Muhammad Radzi Abu Hassan said schools at locations with Level One hot weather status or temperatures above 35°C should temporarily suspend outdoor activities.

He also said if the weather status changes to "heatwave" status (above 37°C), the Education Ministry can take the necessary action, including school closure, as contained in its Guidelines for the Closure of Educational Institutions.

Separately, Fadhlina said this year's STAM cumulative grade point average has shown an improvement from 3.09 to 3.13.

She added that a lower number indicates a better score.

KUCHING: The Sessions Court here yesterday sentenced an Indonesian woman to 11 months in jail for concealing her newborn child by disposing of the baby's body in a dumpster behind an eatery at MJC, Batu Kawa here last year.

Judge Saiful Bahari Adzmi convicted Jamilah Amin, 23, after she pleaded guilty to an alternative charge framed under Section 318 of the Penal Code.

The Section carries a jail term of up to two years, or a fine, or both, upon conviction.

Jamilah from Entikong, Indonesia was previously charged under Section 309B of the Penal Code for infanticide on Dec 6, 2023 but was ordered to undergo mental observation.

During proceedings, her counsel Ralph Lee submitted a psychiatric report which stated she had been diagnosed with major depressive disorder and is under medication.

baby girl by disposing of the dead body in an MJC, Batu Kawa dumpster.

Based on the facts of the case, a member of the public told police that the body of a newborn baby had been found at a dumpster in the area.

Police later found the body of a baby in a black garbage bag, which had been thrown together with other kitchen waste and rubbish.

Upon examining the bin area, police found an empty parcel bag with the name of a man.

Further investigations revealed Jamilah to be the man's girlfriend.

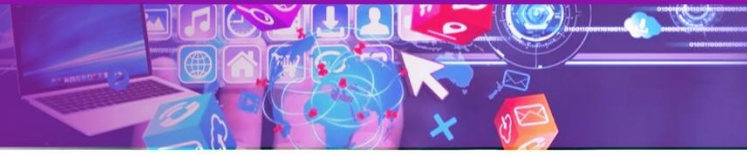

She was then sent to undergo an examination by a specialist, who confirmed Jamilah showed signs that she had just delivered a baby.

Investigations found that upon delivery, Jamilah had strangled the baby using a rubber band and a towel at around 8.30pm on Nov 22, 2023.

Following an autopsy, the pathologist confirmed that the baby's cause of death was ligature strangulation.

Jamilah committed the act to conceal the birth of the baby from others.
